Ashdodance 2025

In this current year also, we invite you to the largest and most colorful dance festival in Israel. Ashdod Dance continues the wonderful tradition and brings to the stage dancers of all ages, from all over the country, and from all styles, alongside Israel's biggest stars.

The harsh reality that has been imposed on us since the Black Sabbath of October 7, and the enormity of painful news that has come since then, has caused the entire festival team to carefully examine our work, adjust it, and make every effort to bring something soothing to the great pain that we are experiencing as a society.

This year's festival program looks directly at the wounds and the pain, and seeks to create beauty and a sense of renewal and rebirth from them.

The performances that we created and curated for Ashdodance 2025 highlight the good that we share, and celebrate our strength and determination to be a people living in peace in our country. This year, our stages will spotlight dancers alongside huge stars, exciting and unique tribute performances alongside colorful performances, and above all - joining us in movement towards a strong and beneficial future.

Come to Ashdod. Come dance!

Artistic Director and Founder of the Festival: Avi Levy

Chief Producer: Art Production

Greetings from the Minister of Culture to the AshdoDance Festival 2025

I am pleased to welcome visitors to the 2025 AshdoDance Festival, the largest and most colorful international dance festival in Israel!

As we face the complex and challenging reality of recent days, the importance of cultural and artistic events is greater than ever. The AshdoDance Festival, which has become a symbol of creativity and excellence in the field of dance - both in Israel and around the world - brings to the stage our cultural and spiritual resilience as a society.

This year, under the artistic leadership of Avi Levy, the festival looks directly at our painful current reality, and seeks to create beauty, renewal and rebirth from it. The special emphasis on connections - between East and West, between traditional and contemporary, between older generations and young people - reflects the cultural richness of Israeli society and its ability to renew and grow even in challenging times.

Ashdod Dance provides a broad platform for the intergenerational connection of dance culture in Israel. The festival will feature male and female dancers of all ages and from all over the country, alongside Israeli superstars, presenting the best in dance in all its forms.

I thank the Mayor of Ashdod, Dr. Yechiel Lasri, for his strong support of the festival, Attorney Gabi Knafo, Deputy Mayor and Chairman of the Steering Committee, and all those involved in making AshdoDance a reality.

I wish you all an enriching and enjoyable cultural experience throughout the AshdoDance Festival.

Minister of Culture and Sport
Micki Zohar

From the Mayor of Ashdod

"There are shortcuts to happiness, dancing is one of them." (Vicky Baum)

The successful dance festival in Israel, "AshdoDance," continues the tradition for the eighth year, filling our city's stages with thousands of amateur and professional dancers from Israel and abroad, along with Israel's biggest stars, for four colorful and festive days. The AshdoDance Festival firmly places Ashdod on the cultural map of Israel and provides a spectacular expression of the multiculturalism and social wealth of the city.

The "Iron Swords" War brought with it pain, worry, and many challenges that we still face today, but at the same time, it revealed the beautiful face of Israeli society, which was expressed in incredible unity, strength, tolerance, mutual responsibility, and community resilience.

This year's festival program, with its colorfulness, is meant to bring goodness to our hearts, and to remind us that in the shadow of pain and worry, we must continue to dance and rejoice, to unite and celebrate our existence together in a sign of renewal and rebirth.

This year we will host many artists, including: Boaz Sharabi, Keren Peles, Rami Kleinstein, Lior Narkis, Ran Danker, Narkis, Bar Tzabri, Dudu Fischer, Shlomit Aharon, Subliminal and Tzel together with the Tackett family for a first-of-its-kind show - a show in memory of the late Pini Spiegler- as well as professional dance performances, unique tavern evenings and a spectacular closing show to the sounds of the 80s.

I thank all the partners in the success of the festival, the chairman of the steering committee, Deputy Mayor, Attorney Gabriel Knafo, the CEO of the Municipal Society for Leisure Culture Oren Tuil, the director of the events department Iris Naftali and of course Avi Levy, the man and living spirit behind this impressive production. Thank you, dear audience, who vote with their feet every year and turn Ashdod into a huge, vibrant and immersive dance floor.

Yours,

Dr. Yechiel Lasri Mayor

Welcome from the Artistic Director, Avi Levy

Once again, this year we are holding the Ashdodance Festival with the horrors of war raging in the background. But the war's persistence and its enormous costs to us will not break our spirit. The entire festival team is determined to hold it as a living testament to Israel's strength and the resilience of our spirit. This year we have placed special emphasis on connections - specifically connecting contrasts. East and West, modern and classic, veterans and youth. These contrasts and connections are the secret of the festival's charm and are essential in our eyes in order to preserve tradition, while at the same time constantly renewing ourselves and striving upward and forward.

The program I have formulated for the festival this year brings to the stage performances that directly touch on today's painful reality, alongside huge, colorful performances with thousands of dancers. In, Ashdodance 2025, we are hosting local superstars such as Boaz Sharabi, Keren Peles, Subliminal Ve'hazel, Rami Kleinstein, Narkis, Maya Buskila and many others, accompanied by professional dance troupes from all over the country. A special performance in memory of the late Pini Spiegler will bring the Israeli hora to center stage, and our specialty taverns will invite you to put your worries aside for a moment while we sing and dance together. In Ashdodance 2025, there is a performance that suits every taste and every age, and I am confident that along with the enjoyment of the festival, you will also find moments of relaxation and liberation.

A special thank you from me and our entire festival team to the Mayor of Ashdod, Dr. Yechiel Lasri, for his uncompromising support of Ashdodance as well as all the cultural and spiritual enterprises in the city. His standing by our side is what makes the festival possible and demonstrates its importance to the city and people of Ashdod every year.

See you at the festival!

Avi Levy,

The well-known "Vision of Dry Bones" by the prophet Ezekiel is an interfaith and long-standing symbol of rebirth and renewal of the spirit. This vision, which represents our moment-in-time more than anything else, was transformed by choreographer Liran Michaeli into a new dance work for 7 dancers. Between the real and the abstract, between dry and wet, between dust and flesh, between skeleton and soul - the spirit of life crosses the arid desert and revives the motionless. An original, moving and hopeful piece of dance artistry.
